

Heart-Healthy Food Choices

A heart-healthy diet can help lower cholesterol levels and reduce your risk of heart disease. Choose a variety of foods recommended in the Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Aim to include more of these heart-healthy foods in your diet.

Vegetables and Fruits

Try to get 4-5 servings each of vegetables and fruit every day. A serving is equal to 1 cup fresh or ½ cup cooked vegetable and 1 medium or ½ cup fresh, frozen or canned fruit.

Unsaturated fats

Limit total fat. Look for foods with more monounsaturated and polyunsaturated fats and less saturated and trans fats. Choose foods with omega-3 fats, such as fish, flax and non-hydrogenated soft spreads.

Fiber

Choose more high-fiber foods like vegetables, fruits, lentils, beans and whole grains like oats, whole wheat, brown rice and barley.

Soy

Include a “soy night” in your weekly meal rotation. Try veggie burgers and veggie dogs, or use crumbled tofu in your favorite chili, lasagna or sloppy joe recipe.
